

Michael Acarregui, M.D. attended medical school at Oregon Health Sciences University in Portland, Oregon and completed his Pediatric and Neonatology training at the University of Texas Southwestern Health Science Center at Dallas. He joined the Pediatric Faculty at the University of Iowa in 1991 as a staff neonatologist. During his years at the University of Iowa he has worn a number of hats. He maintained an National Institute of Health funded laboratory for 14 years. He serves as the Medical Director of the Iowa High Risk Infant Follow Up Program and he has been involved in a number of healthcare quality improvement initiatives at UIHC including the institution's participation in the Vermont Oxford Network. He became the Associate Director of the Iowa Statewide Perinatal Care Program in 2005 working with Dr. Herman Hein until September 2006 when he became the Director of the Program.